

Retail Solutions Sales Executive

SalePoint currently has an exciting opportunity for a confident, assertive self-starter to sell software and services to the specialty retail industry.

The person we're looking for is a "hunter" who has a successful sales track record and a "closer" with experience selling software to the retail market.

The Sales Executive will be responsible for developing new business opportunities and will be supported by technical and marketing resources.

Position will be located in San Diego, Sacramento, or Austin.

Submit your resume including salary history to lhaworth@salepoint.com.